WE'RE MAKING PROGRESS BUT, FRANKLY, NOT ENOUGH!

$660,010 Raised So Far; Buildings Will Open in 1962

Yes, we are making considerable progress in the campaign for St. Andrew's College Building and Scholarship Fund.

Towards the minimum need of $1,195,000, there has so far been contributed $660,010, a shade over 55 percent of the total requirement. That means, however, that $534,990 must still be raised to fulfill the development programme.

The Board of Governors has decided that we must proceed immediately to build the Auditorium-Classroom Building and the Great Hall.

Ready in Autumn of 1962

Detailed plans are now being prepared and tenders will be called before summer. The two new buildings will be ready for use when classes open in September, 1962, according to assurance given us by Marani, Morris and Allan, the architects.

"We express our gratitude to Old Boys, parents, corporations, foundations and other staunch friends who have so generously contributed the funds which are enabling us to get under way with construction," says J. K. MacDonald '22, General Chairman of the appeal.

The pie chart on this page shows graphically where the funds, to date, have come from.

Still a Long Way to Go

We still have a long way to go in order to finance the complete programme. Urgently needed yet are funds for completing the two new buildings and for repair, renovation and refurbishing of existing facilities, as well as to provide scholarships and bursaries for worthy students.

Completion of the programme will enable the College to increase its enrolment from 250 to 300 boys and thus effect a more economical administration.

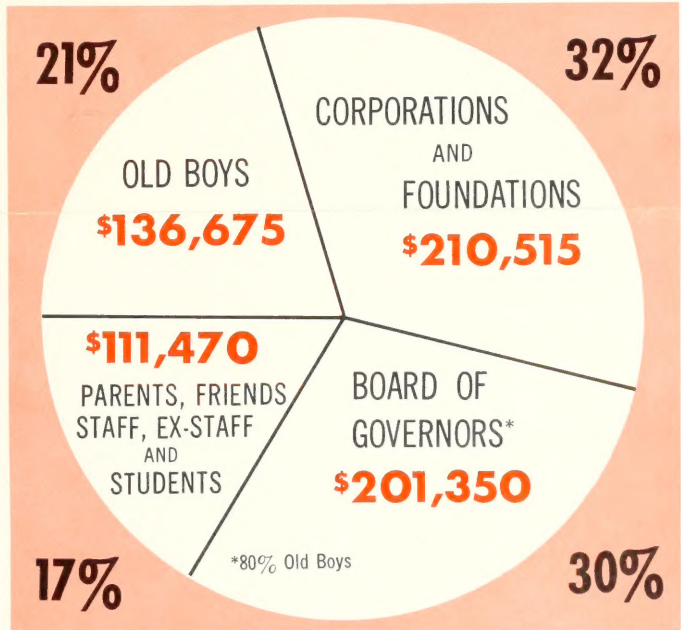

The campaign is being accelerated in order to raise the balance of the urgently needed funds. It is obvious that the continued and increased support of all the loyal friends of the School, particularly the Old Boys, is required if our goal is to be reached.

As the figures show, we're making progress . . . but, frankly, not enough.

WHERE THE MONEY TO DATE HAS COME FROM

WE STILL HAVE TO PUT ROOFS ON THE BUILDINGS

These outline drawings of the future Auditorium-Classroom Building and Great Hall illustrate where we stand in the St. Andrew's College Building and Scholarship Fund campaign. On a base of $660,010, we still must have another $340,000 in order, figuratively speaking, to put roofs on the new buildings and complete the renovation and furnishings programme.

Great Credit Goes To Building Committee

Great credit goes to the Building Committee, under the Chairmanship of A. J. Mylrea, who has been ably assisted by T. C. Armstrong '33, J. A. Bennet, J. R. Coulter, J. K. Macdonald '22 and J. B. Scott.

You may be sure that the new buildings in their harmonious, functional line will be an aesthetic acquisition to the campus as well as thoroughly practical facilities. They will represent the utmost in economy of construction.

SITE OF NEW AUDITORIUM-CLASSROOM BUILDING

The Tuck Shop, which is to be moved to a new location. The Auditorium and Classroom Building will be constructed on this site and the Great Hall to the south-west of it.
